

CHERBOURG DOOMED AS YANKS DRIVE IN

Meandering Along the Main Stem By WASH FAYETTE

I have heard some nice things said about the change in the parking zones in the up-town district. City Manager W. L. Stambaugh, who made the changes, is also receiving compliments over the change.

Not only has the angle of the parking zones been changed considerably to permit entering and leaving the zones with less effort and danger, but the zones have been widened four inches, giving eight additional inches between parked vehicles.

Since the change, the parking zones are just about the best in this part of Ohio. Most zones are entirely too narrow, and scraped fenders and damaged bumpers are the result.

It has meant a great deal of extra work to bring about the change, but it has been well worth it, and I am adding my compliments to the city manager.

It has not been so many years since the curbs in the up-town area were lined with hitchhacks and hitchposts to which horses attached to all kinds of horse-drawn vehicles were tied.

As I watched the street crew stripe Fayette Street in front of the Record-Herald office Tuesday, I recalled the days when hitchhacks were there, although at that time a two-story, dilapidated building that was used as a residence stood on the site.

In those days there was no such paving as today, and only a few automobiles were parked promiscuously along the streets.

I have seen many a horse rear and plunge when an auto parked too close to where it was tied. The horses became frightened at the noise, smell and looks of the "gasoline buggies."

Those were trying days for the owners of horse-drawn vehicles, the horses, and the drivers of automobiles, for there was a law requiring motorists to pull to the side of the road and stop until the frightened horse (and driver) of a horse-drawn vehicle, could get by in safety, and to lead the horse if necessary.

Now when an auto driver meets a horse-drawn vehicle it is the auto that is liable to "take the ditch as the driver stares at the unusual sight!"

It is not uncommon to find something out of the ordinary that has been left on my desk during my absence, but when I returned from lunch and saw a huge, many lobed mushroom reposing there I rubbed my eyes and took a second look.

Then I started asking questions and learned that the giant mushroom, of the "Hickory Jack" species, had been left by George L. Gossard, one of the leading authorities on mushrooms in this community.

George later told me that the "Hickory Jack" was found by Walter Reser, growing from a stump in the back yard at his home on Fourth Street. The species is edible, George says.

The monster, which weighs 11½ pounds and is twice as large as the biggest specimen I had ever seen. It was pure white when found, but started turning black soon after it was pulled.

If its condition permits, George is to display it in the window of the Gossard Jewelry Store, but the way it is deteriorating as this is written, I doubt if you will see it there.

The big "Hickory Jack" reminds me of another monster mushroom that Sam Van Pelt, of this city, found growing in a meadow a number of years ago. It was of the "puffball" type, and it was just about all Sam could do to put his arms around it. It weighed around 60 pounds. I still have a picture of Sam and the puffball or the puffball and Sam, somewhere in my collection.

RATION SUSPENSIONS IN CUYAHOGA EXPAND TO 16

CLEVELAND, June 23.—(AP)—Three more establishments in the area served by Cuyahoga County Board No. 6 have been cited for suspension hearings by the Office of Price Administration.

The latest action brought to 16 the number of concerns cited by OPA for illegally obtaining ration points. Six establishments have been suspended for varying periods from acquiring or serving rationed foods.

Congressmen Seek To Clean Up Few Money Matters And Turn To Politics

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—Congress gave its attention today to the few money matters remaining on its urgent calendar, and got ready to turn out the lights in the Capitol and head for the conventions.

The recess will be until August 1 and either the majority or minority leader of either house can demand a recall in the event of an "emergency."

Turnabout for FDR
President Roosevelt apparently has rolled out the welcome mat for Senator George, Georgia Democrat whose defeat he sought to bring about six years ago. The president is reported to have been "very pleased" to hear that George's chances of re-election this year are good. Most observers saw in the president's attitude a move to quiet party complaints down south.

Liberty Ship Praised
The Liberty ship—the truck-horse of the sea—has won the praise of the Senate's war investigating committee but the senators sharply score its use as a troop carrier or hospital ship. In a report on merchant shipping the committee discounts to some extent the damage sustained by cracking, but it criticizes the failure to build adequate troop carriers of other types, and opposes the substitution of Liberty ships for this purpose.

Farm Contractors
Services of independent contractors on farms may be put under ceiling prices in cases where the War Food Administration has established maximum wage rates for farmers, the Office of Price Administration said today.

Taken at WFA's request and effective June 28, the action covers contractor services performed in connection with planting, harvesting or preparation of agricultural commodities for market. Livestock and poultry services are included.

These services generally will be brought under price control only when WFA recommends the action to parallel establishment of maximum wage rates for farmers.

Wages and Strikes
The first specific, detailed proposal to write a strike-deterrent into steel wage contracts was offered today by W. H. Harvey, representing the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh, before the War Labor Board panel in the steel wage dispute.

The plan would establish a permanent salaried arbitrator who would be empowered to enforce the contract by imposing penalties.

Nazi Oil Supplies And Troops Being Blasted By Bombs

By GLADWIN HILL
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 23.—(AP)—Italy-based bombers smashed the Romanian oil installations at Ploesti again today while Liberators and Fortresses from Britain stabbed through clouds for the eighth straight day of smashes at the Pas-De-Calais "rocket coast."

The Italian force—of probably more than 500 heavy bombers—also attacked Giurgi, Danube port where Romanian oil is shipped to river boats. The assault coincided with a British Ministry of Economic Warfare estimate that Germany's yearly output of oil has been reduced about 65 percent by aerial bombardments of the last three months. A Ministry spokesman said the German Army is getting less than half the gasoline it needs. The spokesman said German liquid fuel output has been cut from 15 or 16 million tons yearly to about five million.

The Italy-based bombers, escorted by Lightnings and Mustangs, met a "considerable number" of fighters over Romania, an announcement said, and several were shot down. The rail yards at Nis, Yugoslavia, also were bombed.

Massed Troops Hit
RAF heavy bombers attacked the Nazi reinforcement-crammed railway yards at Reims and Laon last night, capping one of the Allies' biggest days of aerial operations since the Normandy invasion was launched.

TOLEDO IS DELUGED WITH 3-INCH RAIN

Basements Flooded, Cars Are Stalled in City

TOLEDO, June 23.—(AP)—Three and a half inches of rain, accompanied by a fierce electrical storm, deluged this city early today leaving in its wake hundreds of stalled automobiles, basements filled with water, curtailed operations at hospitals and war plants and scores of streets flooded with clogged traffic.

The rain, declared by the government weather observer to be the heaviest for any 24-hour period in the month of June in the city's history, fell intermittently for six hours.

Most of the railroad underpasses in the city were flooded by water up to 12 feet in depth; all power and heat were cut off at Toledo hospital and nurses were forced to stumble around in candlelight during the early morning hours.

GENTILE STATIONED AT WRIGHT FIELD

Piqua Ace Flying New Jet- Propulsion Plane

DAYTON, June 23.—(AP)—Capt. Don S. Gentile, Piqua ace, has been attached temporarily to the Materiel Flight Command at Wright Field, where he is flying the new jet-propulsion airplane, it was disclosed last night.

Gentile, who destroyed 30 Nazi planes in Europe as a pilot in the Mustang fighter escort group, has been piloting jet planes for "several days," said Col. F. W. Warburton, chief of the flight command section at Wright Field. Gentile came home on 30-day leave after fighting over Europe for three years, first with the Canadian air force and then with the U. S. Army Air Force, to which he was transferred when this country entered the war.

Colonel Warburton said there was no indication how long Gentile would be at Wright Field. By the time he receives new orders the flier will have become "well acquainted" with all phases of the new craft, his commanding officer said.

Gentile has not been flying the new plane only.

BLUE STAR MOTHERS WANT PEACE VOICE

Called Only Organization With No Hindrances

CLEVELAND, June 23.—(AP)—American mothers who have given their sons in the fight for freedom will "have a voice at the roundtable of peace," the founder of the Blue Star Mothers of America said today at opening sessions of the third annual convention.

"At the peace table, when the war lords are called to task for their crimes, American motherhood will have a voice," Capt. George H. Maines of Flint, Mich., declared. "Already efforts are underway to present our plans for peace, our views and our hopes to the men who will represent the United States of America at that all-important conference."

Capt. Maines extolled the Blue Star Mothers as "the only—and I repeat—the only organization in this country, made up of mothers, which has no axe to grind, no policy to push, and above all, owes allegiance to no organization or faction other than the United States."

BOLIVIA GOVERNMENT RECOGNIZED BY USA

Villarreal Administration Felt Pro-United Nations

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—The United States and 17 other American republics today recognized the government of Bolivia ending six months of diplomatic isolation of the South American nation.

One other nation, Uruguay, has agreed to extend recognition but will not take the technical step necessary for a day or so.

Officials here said the action is being taken in concert by all the countries because they are convinced the administration of Villarreal is definitely pro-United Nations and has given evidence in action of its intention to work for United Nations interests and against the interests of the Axis.

of the Red Army's long-awaited summer drive, an offensive which may be combined with the American-British invasion from the west for the crushing of Hitlerdom.

Ernst von Hammer, chief military correspondent for the International Information Bureau, German propaganda agency, said in a Berlin broadcast the Russians had made "small local advances" between Mogilev and Vitebsk on the White Russian front—the most direct route from Moscow to Berlin. Announcement of the new Russian drive also was made by other German news agencies.

While making the usual claim that the Russian gains were sealed off promptly, von Hammer said the Red Army was using artillery and tanks on a grand scale.

Threat to China Tempers Joy of Jap Navy Defeat

Yanks Close In on 20,000 Nips Abandoned To Fate on Saipan When Huge American Force Chases Them Off With Heavy Damage

(By the Associated Press)
The Japanese Army, exerting tremendous pressure to build its defenses before the triumphant American Navy pushes through the Asiatic mainland, today drove down the Hankow-Canton Railway to within 33 miles of Hengyang in south-central China.

Darkness of the news from Chungking, in striking contrast to the telling victory of U. S. Naval Task force 58 off Saipan, prompted Chinese authorities to say a battle for China itself may develop from the Hengyang fighting. Thousands of civilians were fleeing the threatened city.

Battle of Saipan
Better news came from all other Pacific war fronts. Tokyo radio announced that a force of 35 Allied bombers and fighters raided Port Blair in the Andaman Islands in the Bay of Bengal Wednesday morning. The damage inflicted was minor, Tokyo said, in its usual vein, and six raiding planes were shot down.

American infantrymen and marines spread through the hills and plains of Saipan Island in the Marianas in pursuit of 20,000 Japanese troops abandoned to their fate by their fleeing navy. The Americans had complete air and sea control and the ground fighters had the advantage in numbers and firepower. They have all but conquered the whole Magicienne Bay shore. Tokyo radio admitted American reinforcements were pouring in.

The newest bag includes 11 medium-sized cargo vessels, four small cargo vessels and one medium-sized naval auxiliary.

FIGHTING RAGES IN STREETS OF CITY OUTSKIRTS

Heights Dominating Big Port Captured - - Caen Reported Evacuated by Germans

By WES GALLAGHER
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 23.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's finely tuned American assault troops have stormed over one of the three fortified peaks dominating Cherbourg's military harbor, supreme headquarters announced today, and speedy fall of the city is expected.

Describing Cherbourg's defenses as "fairly formidable," a headquarters announcement said a "prolonged siege is unlikely" now.

Attacking with a storm of artillery fire, and a huge array of instruments of destruction, the Americans captured a height at Tourlaville, four miles from the sea southeast of Cherbourg. The Germans had been reduced to machine-guns, small arms and light artillery in defending their pillboxes and prepared defenses.

Americans and Germans were so closely interlocked in the grim battle that Allied air forces were unable to give the close battle-front the support that marked the opening of the all-out attack yesterday.

Allied Air Support
British and American planes concentrated on "quarantining" the battle area, hitting rail and road communications in a semi-circle 100 miles deep in France as the Americans clamped a vise on Cherbourg and smashed at the other two remaining hilltop bastions.

These were at Nouainville, 2½ miles southwest of the port and three miles from the coast, and at La Mare a Conards, 1½ mile directly to the south of the city.

Three German divisions, mixed with German naval units and a defense garrison, were believed caught in the American clamp.

The Germans apparently had withdrawn completely from the eastern tip of the peninsula in order to concentrate on defense of Cherbourg.

Nazis Evacuate Caen

A Canadian Press correspondent reported the Germans have evacuated Caen, at the eastern end of the Allied line in Normandy and dispersed their forces outside the city because of the terrific bombing to which the long-contested town had been subjected.

There was no confirmation at supreme headquarters of a German radio report that new Allied air-borne landings had been made at Gavray east of Granville on the peninsula's west coast 60 miles below Cherbourg.

The Germans were making a desperate bid to hold the strategic port as long as possible. Everywhere fierce resistance was encountered, and a particularly vicious battle was being fought for control of the big airfield at

FDR'S SON'S EX-WIFE MARRIES IN GEORGIA

Mrs. Ruth Googins Roosevelt Weds Air Force Colonel

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 23.—Mrs. Ruth Googins Roosevelt of Fort Worth, former wife of Col. Elliott Roosevelt, was married today at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church here to Lt. Col. H. T. Eldson of the Lawson General Hospital at Atlanta, Ga.

The bride, member of a wealthy Fort Worth family, obtained her final divorce decree from Col. Roosevelt at Fort Worth April 18. Col. Roosevelt now is in England with the army air forces.

Col. Eldson, also an army air forces officer, was a patient at Lawson General Hospital for several months, being treated for an injury suffered overseas. He was transferred June 11 to Hoff General Hospital at Santa Barbara, Cal.

Both he and Mrs. Roosevelt gave their ages as 34. The Colonel listed his home as Indianapolis, Ind.

mandy the Germans announced the opening of a new Soviet drive which did not materialize.

In the past German reports of Russian drives almost always have preceded those from Moscow.

An offensive developing along the Mogilev-Vitebsk line could be aimed almost straight west at Berlin, southwest by Warsaw about 420 miles away or northwest to lop off the Baltic states by cutting 250 miles to Riga.

It is certain the Russians are employing only a small percentage of their rested and re-equipped forces against Finland, and that the Red Army is in a position to strike anywhere it chooses along the front from the Black Sea to the Baltic.

BATTLE OF ITALY
ROME, June 23.—(AP)—Allied forces in Italy have made progress along both coastal sectors, but the Germans apparently are planning a determined stand along strong positions between Lake Trasimeno and Lake Chiusi and north of Perugia in the central sector. Allied headquarters indicated today.

The Eighth Army is encountering "strong resistance" north of Perugia, and southwest of Lake Trasimeno, where a number of German counter-attacks have been repulsed, the communique said.

An Algiers radio news roundup said Allied forces on the Adriatic were 25 miles from the important seaport of Ancona. The communique said troops in that sector have continued their "rapid advance and are now approaching the Chienti River," about 25 miles below Ancona.

On the west coast the Fifth Army, despite strong resistance, has pressed forward astride Highway One, leading through Livorno to Pisa, and is approaching Follonica, some 55 miles below Pisa, believed to be the anchor of the next major German resistance line.

Flying 2,300 sorties, the Mediterranean air force attacked tar-

Aerial Invasion Here And Cherries Vanish

An "aerial invasion" has struck Jeffersonville, and also has been reported in Washington C. H. and other parts of the county.

As a result of the "invasion," many cherry tree owners, who had visions of pies, conserve and other delicacies made from cherries, have found the cherries disappeared within a few hours time.

The "invasion" consists of big flocks of English Starlings, sparrows, robins, and in some instances other birds, which concentrate on a tree laden with cherries, and strip it within a few hours.

Several complaints have been made regarding the depredations of the birds which seem to congregate, select the tree having the best fruit, and then proceed to satisfy their voracious appetites for cherries.

In one instance the owner of the tree thought someone had stolen his cherries, until neighbors informed him that scores of birds were the thieves.

Never before have such flocks of different birds swarmed into trees like they have this year, so far as known.

While the birds are holding invasions the victims of their depredations feel certain that they are using Nazi tactics of robbery.

CHERBOURG NOW DOOMED AS YANKS DRIVE ON INTO OUTSKIRTS OF PORT CITY

Maupertus, five miles east of the city.

(The British radio, quoting a British correspondent, said a captured German battle order declared the Germans in Cherbourg must "hold their positions or be shot." The broadcast was recorded by CBS.)

Germans Stubborn
Inside the besieged port, the German garrison stood up stubbornly under yesterday's 1,000-plane assault on the forts and pillboxes comprising the city's defenses. The U. S. ground troops had to fight for every inch of their advance.

Small gains were registered around the port itself, but progress was made on both the eastern and western sides of the peninsula.

Only slight German resistance was reported by American troops which cut off the eastern tip of the peninsula by capturing the road junction of St. Pierre Eglise and then driving two miles westward and taking Carneville within sight of the sea.

A report from the 21st Army group headquarters said this advance provided "strong indications" the Germans had abandoned that tip of the peninsula despite strong fortifications in the St. Vaast la Hougue area on the eastern coast.

Defenses Chopped Up
On the western tip of the peninsula, the Americans went forward in the area of Beaumont Hague against scattered resistance, cutting off whatever Germans are in that area.

Allied bombers and fighters attacked German gunposts and barracks on Alderney, one of the channel isles only seven miles west of the tip of Cap de la Hague. This indicated some of the trapped Germans might be attempting to flee there.

The Allied prisoner bag was described at supreme headquarters as "well over" the 15,000 announced a few days ago for the period since the June 6 landings.

Underground in Fight
Bloody hand-to-hand fighting for Cherbourg was matched over two-thirds of France where the French underground is striking at the Germans on a dozen "inner fronts," tying up "several German divisions" in combat, a special communique from Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters reported.

The French patriots, the supreme command announced, have blocked movement of German troops against the bridgehead, have fought several pitched battles and even have occupied several towns in various parts of France.

The Americans drove a wedge south from St. Lo-D'Ourville in the direction of La Haye du Puits, widening the corridor across the peninsula, for the only other gain on the American side of the Normandy front.

Nazi Attack Fails
In the British-Canadian sector to the east the Germans struck with a tank attack two miles southwest of Tilly-sur-Seuilles, but were beaten off. British reconnaissance parties three miles east of Caen encountered determined resistance.

Allied bombers struck and destroyed a steel works just outside Caen. The Germans had been converting it into a fortified point to block the Allied forces standing less than half a mile away.

The mighty Allied air arm also battered railways over which the Germans are attempting to bring reinforcements to the battle area. The wind dropped and the weather improved off the Allied beachhead, permitting the Allies to resume, after four bad days, the unloading of supplies.

Unseen Enemy
The special communique from Eisenhower's headquarters this morning said the Germans had been forced to use "considerable forces" against the French resistance movement, which now is operating in accordance with Allied high command plans.

armored forces, artillery and aircraft, the announcement said, and the French "seriously delayed" two enemy armored divisions in southwest France from reaching the beachhead. Numerous cuts also were made in France's interior railroads.

Battle in Channel

An American airman said he saw a naval engagement in the channel last night with two fleets "going at it hammer and tongs," but there was no immediate official announcement of such a fight. If true, it might indicate the Germans were trying to evacuate some of their trapped troops from Cherbourg.

Last night's communique announced the Germans were rushing new forces to Normandy and that Allied planes "swarmed over northwestern France from dawn to midday to harass enemy reinforcements moving westward from the Paris area."

Associated Press war correspondent Don Whitehead, with the American forces storming Cherbourg, reported last night that "death and destruction are ram-nant in the area of defenses the Germans are manning," as thundering U. S. artillery carved out a path for the battle-stained Doughboys.

In 1943 American Indians raised food valued at $21,000,000.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(Substituting for DeWitt Mackenzie)
Germany's announcement of the beginning of a big Russian summer offensive—which has been expected to tie in with the western front to win the war in Europe—may be premature, but both the time and place fit closely into previous expectations.

It is quite usual for Berlin to announce important Russian military moves ahead of Moscow. The Germans were wrong recently about the importance of local Russian attacks on the Romanian front, but in general they have been fairly accurate, at least up to the point where accuracy might interfere with propaganda.

Ever since the Russians recaptured Smolensk observers have been watching for a blow-off on the north-central front. It is there that the Germans occupy most Soviet territory, and it is there, from Velikie Lukie to Gornel, that it is easiest for Russia to concentrate great forces and supplies. It is the area through which the Germans made their principal stab at Moscow in 1941. The Vitebsk-Mogilev sector which Berlin reports ablaze is bisected by the main highway from Moscow which leads, ultimately, to Warsaw—and Berlin.

A drive here, in addition to having the best supply routes from the rear, also would serve as a line-straightening effort.

Mogilev is about 400 miles from Warsaw, while the farthest advance Russian sector around Kovel is 200 miles nearer.

The Russians are addicted to the "old one-two" system, getting a drive well-started, as they have in Finland, and then turning loose another. If the north-central drive has started it will be followed by others. Then, wherever the break-through comes, everything will be thrown in for the knock-out.

The last Russian drive, which carried them to Romania and the Carpathians near Czechoslovakia, began on July 12, after a bitter, seven-day German offensive southwest of Moscow.

It followed by only a few months the turn of the German tide at Stalingrad. The Russians are infinitely better off now, ready to start earlier and hit harder with superior forces of men and equipment.

If the German report is correct—and it will apply soon if not right now—Berlin itself has announced the raising of the curtain for the last act, the twilight of Hitler's pagan gods.

Sabina

Farter-Kyle Wedding

The spacious home of Mrs. A. J. Darbyshire in Sabina was a lovely setting for the June wedding of her granddaughter Martha Ellen Carter, when she became the happy bride of Dr. Chester Roland Kyle of Dayton, June 17th at 8:30 P. M.

An improvised altar before the fireplace banked by ferns and regal lilies in profusion with tall white tapering candles made an impressive spot for the marriage vows.

Miss Harriett Ellen Steddom, an accomplished Lebanon pianist and friend of the bride gave a half hour concert of appropriate music.

As the candles were being lighted by Mr. John Rudd of Middleton, Mrs. E. A. Barger, aunt of the bride sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," and by request of the groom's father sang "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life."

To the strains of the wedding march the bride descended the stairs to the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage.

The bride was attired in a gown of white chiffon and lace. Her shoulder veil of tulle fell from a crown of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and baby breath.

Her matron of honor, was her sister, Mrs. Raymond L. Smith who was dressed in a gown of light blue jersey silk and her bridesmaid was of red roses.

The Rev. Hubert Snyder of New Antioch performed the impressive double ring ceremony. Cpl. Raymond L. Smith, of Patterson Field served as best man.

The traditional Lohengrin and Mendelssohn marches for the processional and receiving of congratulations were played by Miss Steddom.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held, with the bride's mother acting as co-hostess to some 50 relatives and friends.

The bridal table was lovely

50 SERVICEMEN APPLY FOR VOTE HERE ALREADY

Soldiers May Vote from August 8 To November 7 Via Special Ballots

Half a hundred Fayette County servicemen already have made application for absent voters ballots, Glenn Rodgers, clerk of the board of elections, said today.

Applications may be made through any member of the soldier-voter's family via special application blanks which will be at the board of elections office or by a card issued to the serviceman by the War Department, Rodgers said.

"A soldier can make application any time," the election board clerk said. He explained servicemen are eligible to vote from August 8 to November 7. "Servicemen get a 90-day leeway in voting instead of the 30 day period for ordinary absentee voting," Rodgers said.

The extra two months, he explained, are to make allowance for expected delays in transporting ballots from far flung fighting fronts.

There are three envelopes which will be used to send ballots to servicemen all over the world. In graded sizes, the envelopes fit inside each other—one addressed to the serviceman, one to the board of elections and a third identification envelope which contains the ballot itself. Free air mail postage is used as in the primary elections.

Postmaster Emmet Passmore said the ballots will be given air mail preference when they reach ports of embarkation and on the return trip to the United States.

Once the ballots are returned to the board of elections here, they will be forwarded to the precincts where they will be opened when civilian votes here are counted, Rodgers explained.

Election officials here estimate around 1,500 voting servicemen will be eligible for the ballots, Rodgers said. But, he emphasized, the applications must come either through the soldier himself or through the soldier's family.

Application blanks for a member of the family to fill out have not yet come to the board here, Rodgers said. The 50 requests for ballots on file now have come direct from the soldiers—"from all over the world," Rodgers said.

The post-card applications distributed through the War Department are filled out by the serviceman, forwarded through the War Department to Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel, who in turn sends them to the proper board of elections, Rodgers explained.

In white linen, a three tiered wedding cake centering the table, with crystal candelabra holding white candles at either end.

Mrs. Kyle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Carter, of Lebanon, a graduate of Springboro High School, '43 and attended Miami Jacobs Business College.

She is secretary to the Radiologist, Miami Valley Hospital.

Dr. Kyle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kyle of Lebanon, a graduate of Oakwood High School in '38, later entering the School of Chiropractic, at Davenport, Iowa, completing his work at Logan College of Basic Technic, St. Louis, Mo. He is now practicing his profession at 1513 North Main Street, Dayton.

Dr. and Mrs. Kyle left immediately following the reception for their newly furnished Lebanon, O.

Mrs. Kyle wore for her going away costume, a gold ensemble, with white accessories.

Their many friends are wishing them congratulations and best wishes.

Relatives and friends seated in the dining room with the bride and groom were Rev. and Mrs. Snyder, Cpl. and Mrs. Smith, of Jamestown, Mr. John Rudd and Miss Steddom, of Middletown, Mr. Walter Carter and Mrs. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Kyle of Dayton, Mrs. Laura Carter and Mrs. Amy Starbuck, of Wilmington and Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Darbyshire.

The remaining guests being served promiscuously throughout the home.

JUST A FRIENDLY CHAT

Everything we hear today is war, the people have become war minded. But God has nothing to do with war—war does not belong to Him. War belongs to Satan—Satan's business thrives in time of war. Yes, it is true that war is brought on by sins of the people. But Satan could not nor would he exist if it was not for sin. Sin is Satan's middle name. We are all concerned about this war, we are all concerned about victory—victory at arms. But that victory at arms is no more sufficient for the man in uniform than anyone else—that Victory through faith also must be stressed for it, too, is for all—each and everyone of us. Without the faith Victory, we could not, and would not have the arms victory. The faith Victory (our personal victory) can only be won through faith in Christ. "Victory through Christ." To obtain this Victory through Christ, we on the home front must fight. Paul said, 2 Tim. 4:7: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." To keep the faith we must fight a good fight, to the finish. Are you fighting a good fight, or are you yielding to sin?

GERMANS USE GUILLOTINE TO KILL FRENCH PATRIOTS

IRUN, SPAIN, June 23.—(AP)—German and Vichy forces have set up a guillotine in the town of Dax, approximately 50 miles north of the French-Spanish border, to execute French patriots captured in south-western France, advices received here today said. Informants said many French patriots already had been executed, but the exact number is not known.

FARM MACHINERY LOST IN FEED COMPANY FIRE

DEFIANCE, June 23.—(AP)—Fire destroyed a large barn at the Glenn L. Miller Feed Co. today with a loss estimated at $10,000. Considerable farm machinery, including hay balers, harvesting equipment and trucks, were destroyed.

The word "Bolshevik" in Russian means a member of the majority.

How Does Your Garden Grow?

Just grow—now that it's in? Or does it grow more lush—produce more abundantly—with your regular care? It isn't enough to dig up a small patch of soil and drop in a handful of seeds. The real job of growing a Victory Garden—a garden aimed at, and grown for Victory—is to cultivate it faithfully. Keep it growing. And fight the inevitable insect pests. Then you'll have plenty of fresh garden vegetables for your family's summertime needs—plenty more to pack away for the fall and winter months ahead. To help on the food front at home... you're needed at your garden and kitchen battle stations.

Rotary's Opportunity

It is to be hoped, very sincerely, that the park and swimming pool project which is under consideration by the Washington Rotary Club, will not be dropped.

Too many people have applauded the promotion of this idea by the club to allow it to become a dead issue without every possible effort being applied to make it become a beneficial realization both for youth and family.

There are problems to be faced in securing a suitable site and there are objections to be overcome no matter what plan is finally decided upon. However, any organization, composed of as many men of enterprise and high community standing as is this club, hardly can afford to fail to work out some project of this nature after it has been suggested, worked upon, and publicized, without danger of some loss of prestige.

The Rotary Club here is a most excellent organization and if the men who belong to it really desire to do something worthwhile for the youth of this community, as well as the elders, it is not too much to expect that some satisfactory result will be achieved. It is possible that a general project of this character will develop in some other form but some kind of plan should be decided upon in the nature of a community development. The inspirational effect of such a move often is helpful to the organization which starts it. Many substantial organizations have some worthy project in view to justify their activities unless by preference they become mere social groups.

Rotary has a forward-looking national program and its ideals including "service above self" are all that any organization could ask. Its program in the past for aid of crippled children has won the commendation and prayerful gratitude of many people. And there is nothing in the club's agenda which forbids a progressive local action in pushing some project which gives promise of future good for a community.

We do not believe that a vast majority of the Rotary Club members here ever will want to see the club go up to bat and "strike out" on any community move without accomplishing something that will reflect future credit on its membership. Most men in that organization are not of that calibre.

Let's Be Practical

Gen. Charles de Gaulle seems to be developing more and more into the war's problem child. He is still cheered in France, and got a great welcome when he went back home recently after four years of exile. That was all right, and was to be expected, for this unusual man is a symbol of French protest and resurrection, and has helped to sustain French morale in bitter years. He is a brave man, too, with a record of honorable service.

But tact and common sense are something else again. When the oratory and the chanting of the Marseillaise come to an end, and normal men propose to get down to brass tacks, and get on with the war and with French liberation by practical methods, a self-winding human alarm clock is not so good.

Title To Rings Vested In Wife

CHARLESTON, S. C.—Engagement and wedding rings become the wife's property on performance of the marriage ceremony, Magistrate Thomas A. Matthews ruled.

Arbitrating a domestic scuffle, Matthews advised a wife not to hide her husband's shoes to keep him home at night, and admonished the husband to return the wife's rings, taken in retaliation.

One-Minute Test

1. Do you know who established the first American newspaper printed in a foreign language?
2. What is the difference between "virtu" and "virtue"?
3. What is "solipsism"?

Words of Wisdom

It is only necessary to grow old to become indulgent. I see no fault committed that I have not committed myself.—Goethe.

Hints on Etiquette

The bride does not take part in the rehearsal of her wedding, but should be there to see that the affair is conducted as she wishes. This rule is a superstition, and if she wishes to ignore it, she, of course, may do so.

Today's Horoscope

You enter with an abundance of enthusiasm at the beginning of an undertaking, but soon tire and want to change. You conceive and plan good ideas, but seldom carry them out. You let pleasures interfere with business. You are, however, domestic, loving, and kind, and will make a happy marriage. Financial improvement is foreseen for you in the next year, but curb extravagance. Avoid quarrels, especially with members of the opposite sex. The child who is born on this date will be ambitious, resourceful, industrious, idealistic, very romantic and fond of music, dancing and social affairs.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. Benjamin Franklin, in 1732, in German.
2. "Virtu" means rare, curious or beautiful quality; "virtue" is moral excellence.
3. The theory or belief that one can be certain only of his own existence.

What They Endure

Another vivid example of what those boys at the front are going through for us is given by Technical Sergeant William R. Johnston of Parma, Ohio, shot down in a raid last spring in Europe. Like many men who have been through hell, he speaks quietly, vividly and to the point. Back home for a rest, he tells this story—all he is permitted to tell—which needs no embellishment.

"There is a God. My prayers were answered, and so were those of my buddies. We got through. Our crew jumped when our planes' engines were shot out. None of us was injured, and we all stayed together as much as we could. We busted our necks to get through.

"We got along without sugar or salt—we had to. We ate raw goat meat and drank water that wasn't fit to drink. We hid in buildings, fields and forests—anything that would conceal us. We walked through rain and snow. We couldn't stop because, if we did, we would have been gone. We walked through a blizzard for 26 hours without stopping.

"For six days we lived on four raw potatoes apiece—our only food. We had to be quiet all the time. We couldn't talk to each other. At night we would dream of wonderful food at home. I woke up often practically hysterical because I was so terribly hungry."

Well, friends, how would WE like it?

The Russians have turned the German goose-step into a duck for cover.

Theories on Lack of Pep

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

FASHIONS CHANGE in the thinking of that portion of the general public so afflicted as to what is the cause of their lack of pep. I can remember long ago

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

before any of these here wars when I was just beginning to penetrate the mysteries of the science of medicine that it was very orthodox not only for the laity but in the best scientific circles to ascribe it to chronic constipation.

Then the X-ray came along and threw some chilling doubts on the general theory, so that the ultra-scientific could no longer hold it. Nowadays after going through periods in which uric acid, allergy and upset endocrines were given as the cause, public opinion has generally settled on the idea that lack of pep is due to lack of concentrated vitamins.

There are a few stubborn specimens, however, who cling to the old idea that constipation is the root of all evil and for their sakes the thesis is worth debating today.

Correct Meaning

The average man would repudiate with scorn the challenge that he did not know the correct meaning of constipation. But such might be the case. The conventional arrangement of regular diurnal defecation is a social convenience rather than a law of nature. Savage man in a state of Nature responds to the stimulus initiated in the movements of his intestines by the presence of a meal in the stomach and evacuates after each meal. But the meals may be quite a long ways apart.

There is an oft-quoted experience of an eminent physician one of whose patients replied to a question that his bowels were regular although further inquiry proved he meant once every other Monday.

The X-ray has taught us a great deal about the true physiology of the average case of constipation and ruined some of the older notions. If a barium meal is followed through the digestive tract of a constipated person it will be seen in four out of five instances to pass out of the stomach and through the small intestine at exactly the same rate as that of a normal control. After every part of a meal has left the small intestine and entered the large intestine, it normally requires about sixteen hours for it to traverse the entire length and come to rest in the sigmoid colon, and this schedule is no different in four out of five self-styled constipated individuals than in normal ones.

Normal Individual

The normal individual evacuates the daily accumulation in the lower bowel sometime between breakfast and noon. Here, and here only, does the constipated individual differ. The residue of his meal remains in the lower part of the large bowel sometimes for days. At that point, and at that point only, does the much advertised stasis of constipation occur.

This explanation clears up several widely held misconceptions about constipation. First it knocks out the absorption of poison idea. Absorption does not occur from the lower part of the large bowel where the residue rests in a constipated individual. The small intestine from which most absorption occurs is just as empty most of the time in the constipated individual as in the normal.

The feeling of toxicity of poisoning that the constipated individual has is largely due to the cathartic habit.

Secondly, this knowledge of the real physiology of constipation knocks out the idea of the efficiency of cathartics entirely. Why should a cathartic be employed to stir up all the 25 feet of the entire intestine for the sole purpose of emptying the last few inches of that tube. An enema will do it more efficiently. The cathartic just irritates and rolls up all the insides and gives the patient that feeling of discomfort that is interpreted as meaning absorption of sewage.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. B. C.—Is walking harmful for one that has high blood pressure?

Answer:—Moderate exercise is beneficial for a person with high blood pressure, provided complications of heart or kidney do not contradict. Walking is the best form of moderate exercise.

G. C.—A woman 70 years of age has a bad itching in her back and arms. What would you advise?

Answer: The winter itching of old people usually means too much bathing. Leave off the soap and water. Get plenty of fresh vegetables.

M. D.—Would it be dangerous for a woman of 66 years with high blood pressure and diabetes to go on a four hour airplane trip to see her son who is going overseas?

Answer: I don't think so but what the dickens—she'll go anyway.

A. E. S.—Can sugar be in the blood as well as in the urine? Is it more dangerous in the blood?

Answer: There is always a certain amount of sugar in the blood. The blood sugar always rises before the urine sugar appears.

F. H. J.—I have read an article by a doctor who stated that the average life of a person after starting to take thyroid extract is 30 years.

Answer: There is no rule as to how long thyroid extract can be taken. Most people who need it are about 45 years of age when they begin to need it, so thirty years about carries them to their expectancy.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

Ellery almost chuckled as he leaned back and gave his whole mind to the man before him. The very first pertinent question reassured him—Bradford was on the trail.

"Do you recollect, Mr. Smith, that we found the three letters in the defendant's handwriting as a result of Mrs. Haight's hysterical belief that you had told us about them?"

"Yes." "Do you also recall two unsuccessful attempts on my part that day to find out from you what you knew about the letters?"

"Quite well." Bradford said softly: "Mr. Smith, today you are on the witness stand, under oath to tell the whole truth. I now ask you: Did you know of the existence of those three letters before Chief Dakin found them in the defendant's house?"

And Ellery said: "Yes, I did." "When did you first learn about them?"

Ellery told him, and Bradford's surprise turned into satisfaction. "Then you knew Mrs. Haight was in danger from her husband?" "Not at all. I knew there were three letters saying so by implication."

"Well, did you, or did you not, believe the defendant wrote those letters?"

Judge Martin made as if to object, but Mr. Queen answered, "I didn't know."

"Didn't Miss Patricia Wright identify her brother-in-law's handwriting for you, as you just testified?"

"She did. But that did not make it so."

"Did you check up yourself?" "Yes. But I don't pretend to be a handwriting expert."

"But you must have come to some conclusion, Mr. Smith?"

"Objection!" shouted Defense Counsel Martin, unable to contain himself. "His conclusion."

"Strike out the question," directed Judge Newbold.

Bradford smiled. "You also examined Edgcomb's Toxicology, particularly the part devoted to arsenic, with certain sentences marked in red crayon?"

"I did." "You knew from the red crayon marking in the book that, if a crime were going to be committed, death by arsenic poisoning was indicated?"

"We could quarrel about the distinction between certainty and probability," replied Mr. Queen, "but to save argument—let's say I knew; yes."

"It seems to me, Your Honor," said Eli Martin in a bored voice, "that this is an entirely improper line of questioning."

"How so, Counsel?" inquired Judge Newbold.

"Because Mr. Smith's thoughts and conclusions have no conceivable bearing upon the facts at issue."

Bradford smiled again, and when Judge Newbold asked him to limit his questions to events and conversations, he nodded carelessly, as if it did not matter.

"Mr. Smith, were you aware that the third letter of the series talked about the 'death' of Mrs. Haight as if it had occurred on New Year's Eve?"

"Yes."

"During the New Year's Eve party under examination, did you keep following the defendant out of the living room?"

"I did."

"You were keeping an eye on him all evening?"

"Yes."

"You watched him mix cocktails in the pantry?"

"Yes."

"Now do you recall the last time before midnight the defendant mixed cocktails?"

"Distinctly."

"Where did he mix them?"

"In the butler's pantry off the kitchen."

"Did you follow him there from the living room?"

"Yes, by way of the hall. The hall leads from the foyer to the rear of the house. He entered the kitchen and went into the pantry; I was just behind him but stopped in the hall, beside the door."

"Did he see you?"

"I haven't the faintest idea."

"But you were careful not to be seen?"

Mr. Queen smiled. "I was neither careful nor careless. I just stood there beside the half-open hall door to the kitchen."

"Did the defendant turn around to look at you?" persisted Bradford.

"No."

"But you could see him?"

"Clearly."

"What did the defendant do?"

"He prepared some Manhattan cocktails in a mixing glass. He poured some into each of a number of clear glasses standing on a tray. He was reaching for the bottle of maraschino cherries on the pantry table when there was a knock at the back door. He left the cocktails and went out into the kitchen to see who had knocked."

"That was when Miss Lola Wright and the defendant had the conversation just testified to?"

"Yes."

"The tray of cocktails left in the butler's pantry were visible to you all during the period in which the defendant conversed with Lola Wright at the kitchen back door?"

"Yes, indeed."

Carter Bradford hesitated. Then he asked flatly: "Did you see anyone go near those cocktails left in the pantry and the time he returned?"

Mr. Queen replied: "I saw no one, because there wasn't anyone."

Bradford could scarcely conceal his elation as he asked, "Now, Mr. Smith, did you see the defendant return to the pantry after Lola Wright left?"

"I did."

"What did he do?"

"He dropped a maraschino cherry from the bottle into each cocktail, using a small ivory pick. He picked up the tray in both hands and carefully walked through the kitchen toward the door at which I was standing. I acted casual, and we went into the living room together, where he immediately began distributing the glasses to the family and guests."

"On his walk from the pantry to the living room with the tray, did anyone approach him except yourself?"

"No one."

Ellery waited for the next question with equanimity. He saw the triumph gather in Bradford's eyes.

"Mr. Smith, wasn't there something else you saw happen in that pantry?"

"Yes."

"What?"

"I saw the defendant drop a glass of cocktails on the floor in the living room."

"Did he?"

"Yes."

"What time was that?"

"About midnight."

"Did you see who dropped it?"

"No."

"Did you see who picked it up?"

"No."

"Did you see who drank the cocktails?"

"No."

"Did you see who left the cocktails?"

"No."

"Did you see who took the tray?"

"No."

"Did you see who took the glass?"

"No."

"Did you see who took the cherry?"

"No."

"Did you see who took the tray?"

"No."

"Did you see who took the glass?"

"No."

"No." "Have you told us everything you saw?"

"Everything."

"Didn't you see the defendant drop a white powder into one of those cocktails?"

"No," said Mr. Queen. "I saw nothing of the sort."

"Then on the trip from the pantry to the living room?"

"Both Mr. Haight's hands were busy holding the tray. He dropped no foreign substance of any kind into any of the cocktails at any time during their preparation or while he carried the tray into the living room."

The Wrights glanced at one another with relief while Prosecutor Bradford suggested, "Perhaps you turned your head for a second?"

"No one else entered on that tray of cocktails continuously."

"You didn't look away for even a second, eh?"

"For even a second," said Mr. Queen.

"Well, then, Mr. Smith, did you see anyone else who had the opportunity to poison one of those cocktails?"

"I saw no one else, but—"

"In other words, Mr. Smith," cried Bradford, "the defendant James Haight was not only in the best position, but he was in the only position, to poison that cocktail?"

"No," said Mr. Smith. And then he smiled.

Prosecutor Bradford looked blank. Then he shouted: "Are you aware that you just testified that no one else entered on that tray of cocktails?"

Bradford was almost speechless. "Well then—who but James Haight could have poisoned one of those cocktails, by your own testimony?"

Judge Martin was on his feet, but before he could get the word "Objection" out of his mouth, Ellery said calmly: "I could."

There was a wholesale gasp before him and then a stricken silence. So he went on: "You see, it would have been easy for me to slip from behind the door of the hall, cross the few feet of kitchen to the pantry unobserved by Jim or Lola at the back door, drop arsenic into one of the cocktails, return the same way..."

And there was Babel all over again while Mr. Queen smiled benignly.

Over the buzz and Judge Newbold's resounding gavel, Prosecutor Bradford bellowed: "Well, DID you poison that cocktail, Smith?"

There were several instants of quiet again, during which Counsel Martin's voice was heard to say feebly, "I object—" and Mr. Queen's voice topped the objection by declaring "On constitutional grounds—"

At that point Judge Newbold broke his gavel in pounding for order, and roared to the bailiff to clear the courtroom. Then he adjourned court for the day.

HOLLYWOOD—Any time an actor should have trouble memorizing his lines (oh, yes, it's happened!) I'd suggest that he go to work in a studio sound department for a while. Because there's no better training in how to memorize scripts; there's not a single boom man (they're the lads who guide the mike around the stage to pick up sounds who doesn't know every line of script better than any member of the cast.

This has to be so. Modern microphones are aimed to pick up sound from one direction, that in which they are facing, in contrast to the old type, which collected sound from all directions. The new microphones are extremely sensitive; if they picked up from all angles, tiny incidental noises like the grinding of cameras or the creak of the sound boom itself would register on the sound track.

Because of this "directional pickup," it is necessary for the boom man to keep swinging the fact of his mike from one actor to another, so that all dialogue is recorded with equal

Newlyweds Return To Home Near Here After Trip

As the hands of the clock approached twelve o'clock Saturday, June seventeenth, Miss Mildred Daulton became the bride of Irus Sauder when Rev. J. M. McWilliams, of near Sabina, officiated at the single ring ceremony at the home of the minister.

Attending the couple as witnesses were Miss Doris Brandenburg and Mr. Wayne Bowers. For her marriage the bride chose a blue steeple-length frock with white accessories. Her flowers were a shoulder corsage of red roses.

Immediately following the ceremony the newlyweds left for Cincinnati and then Kentucky, and are now at home to their friends on the Bea-Mar farm on the CCC highway.

Mrs. Sauder is a graduate of Washington C. H. High School this spring, having made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marting on the Bea-Mar farms for a number of years.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Sauder of Urbana, is employed as herdsman at the farm where the couple are now at home to their friends. They have been receiving the best wishes and congratulations of many friends and relatives.

Mrs. Loren Noble Feted by Friends At Dinner-Bridge

Mrs. Wallace Noon and Miss Betty Hard charmingly entertained at the home of Miss Hard on Briar Avenue, Thursday evening with a dinner-bridge in compliment to Mrs. Loren Noble, whose marriage was an event of May thirtieth. The popular young bride, who has been feted a number of times by her many friends, chose, for last evening, an all-white frock, most complimentary to her petite brunette beauty.

The hostesses received their guests wearing cool summer frocks, Miss Hard wearing a pink model with black trim and Mrs. Noon light blue with chalk white trimming. The guests were seated at one large table in the dining room when the sumptuous dinner was served. Centering the prettily-appointed table was a large water-garden arrangement of roses, carnations, sweetpeas, baby's breath and other seasonal cut flowers. Favors of tiny wicker baskets filled with Dutch chocolates marked the place of each guest.

Following a most delightful dinner hour, the remainder of the evening was spent in playing bridge and hearts. Prizes for bridge were awarded to Mrs. Donald Lange and Mrs. Keith Garinger while the hearts prize went to Mrs. Noble and Miss Geraldine Smith.

During the course of the evening's pleasures, the co-hostesses presented their guest of honor with a handsome gift, for which her response was most gratifying. Those present with the hostesses and honoree were Mrs. Donald Lange, Mrs. Keith Garinger, Mrs. Gene Travis, Mrs. Emory Lynch, Miss Geraldine Smith, Miss Kay Wilson and Miss Ann Patton.

Ward-Boysel Vows Exchanged June 19 Before Guests

Miss Wilma Elizabeth Ward, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Ward of Rarden, became the bride of Adam Robert Boyssel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Boyssel of Jeffersonville on Monday evening, June nineteenth.

The wedding was officiated in the Nazarene Church in Rarden as the hands of the clock approached eight o'clock. The altar was banked with palm fern, white hydroclies and sweet peas.

Preceding the ceremony, "I Love You Truly" was played by Miss Freda Gardner and the bridal party entered the church to the strains of the Wedding March from Lohengrin.

For her marriage the bride wore a two piece suit of poudre blue rayon linen with white accessories. Her flowers were a shoulder corsage of white carnations. She wore a three strand pearl necklace which her mother had worn at her wedding.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Anna Jean Kates, who wore a street-length frock of white and lavender with which she combined white accessories. She was carrying a bouquet of lavender sweetpeas with blue satin streamers.

The bridegroom was attended by his best man, Mr. Robert Gardner of McDermott.

Around one hundred and fifty guests witnessed the marriage, after which an informal shower was held.

The new Mrs. Boyssel is a talented vocalist who has appeared throughout this section of the country for around six years. Her many friends have been extending their best wishes and congratulations to the newlyweds.

The bridegroom is employed at the Stookey Hardware store in Jeffersonville.

Housewarming Is Held at New Home Of Fred Enslens

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Enslens, 411 East Street, were guests of honor at a gala party entertained Thursday evening in honor of their wedding anniversary and also served as a housewarming when members of Mrs. Enslens' bridge club assembled with their husbands to spend the evening at the Enslens home.

A delicious and appetizing covered dish and fried chicken supper was served to those attending on the rear lawn of the newly-decorated Enslens home on East Street. Centering the tables, which were laden with a number of seasonal viands, was a bouquet of garden flowers.

Later in the evening the guests assembled in the recreation room where four tables of bridge was enjoyed until a late hour. High score was won by Mrs. Thomas Christopher and Mrs. Robert Duntion.

In the dining room the table was centered with a large arrangement of cut flowers, a gift of Mrs. Ted Ottlinger of Zionsville, Ind., houseguest of the Enslens. Additional guests last evening were Lt. and Mrs. Condon Campbell.

On behalf of those attending, a beverage tray was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Enslens, which was autographed by the guests. This was one of the several gifts for the recreation room presented last evening.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rost, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duntion, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Korn, Dr. and Mrs. Francis Haines, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Halliday, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Christopher, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hayes, Lt. and Mrs. Condon Campbell, Mrs. Ted Ottlinger, Mr. and Mrs. John Forsythe, and the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Enslens.

Stork Shower Is Entertained Here Thursday Eve

Miss Phyllis Chase and Mrs. James Steed combined hospitalities at the apartment of Mrs. Steed on West Court Street Thursday evening when they entertained with a stork shower in compliment to Mrs. Anell Kirkpatrick II of New Holland.

The earlier portion of the evening was devoted to informal visiting, after which the hostesses invited their guests to three small tables, prettily decorated in a pink and blue color theme. As placecards they used miniature cradles and baby buggies filled with assorted candies. Each placecard was fastened to the buggy or cradle with safety pins. A pink and blue color theme was carried out in the refreshments, which were much enjoyed by the guests.

On another small table was placed two storks, each filled with a number of smaller gifts, and banked around these were other appropriately wrapped gifts. The guest of honor graciously thanked each guest as she opened her lovely assortment of shower articles.

Those present last evening were Mrs. Anell Kirkpatrick, Sr., Mrs. Eddie Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Richard Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Marie Moore, Mrs. Emmett Lloyd, Miss Doris Steed, Miss Martha Berend, Mrs. Max Houseman and the guest of honor.

Conner Women Met Thursday With Mrs. Burris

Twenty-five members of the Conner Farm Women's Club were entertained at the home of Mrs. Jobe Burris Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Lou Morris assisting the hostess in extending the hospitalities of her home.

The attractively-appointed country home was decorated with a profusion of summer garden flowers tastefully arranged throughout the rooms. The hostess' talent for arranging flowers was recognized and the members greatly admired her arrangements.

The afternoon was devoted to sewing on hospital gowns for the Red Cross and the regular business meeting.

The creed was given by Mrs. Dora Mark, after which the president, Mrs. Robert Coffman led the discussion of plans for the July picnic. Mrs. Ada Wilson presented a humorous article entitled "Fathers" which was of interest to all.

A contest "How Good Is Your Slang" was conducted, after which cooling refreshments were enjoyed.

Johnsons Complimented

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson were guests of honor Thursday evening when they were entertained at the Methodist Church by a group of their friends who offered congratulations to Mr. Johnson, superintendent of their Sunday school and Mrs. Johnson, who were recently married.

Roses and summer flowers were used in great profusion in the room.

The evening was one of many pleasures. Favorite songs were sung. Rev. J. C. Williams recited an original poem and the married ladies told in an amusing way of the costumes they wore on their wedding day.

A long table was filled with a variety of gifts which were unwrapped by the bride, who expressed her appreciation in a gratifying manner.

The hostess committee for the evening was Miss Gertrude Christy, Mrs. Naomi Thompson and Mrs. A. N. Haines, who served tea delicacies to all present during the close of the evening's gaieties.

Dinner Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Neal were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley West of Wilmington at the General Denver Hotel.

Coach Kissell Leaves For Navy Monday

Jerry Kissell, who has coached the WHS Blue Lions in football and assisted in the coaching of basketball and track for the past two seasons, is in the navy now. He was sworn in at Columbus Thursday afternoon and is to report to Camp McDonough, at Plattsburg, N. Y., on June 30 for indoctrination.

Fred Pierson, his immediate predecessor, is now an ensign in the coast guard and has been stationed at Key West, Fla., on patrol duty for the past several months.

Coach Kissell enlisted and made application for a commission in the navy early last winter, but did not receive notice of his acceptance until this week. He expects to have a commission of ensign when he completes the first phase of his training.

He said he had asked for active general sea duty, but added

"of course, I don't know what my work will be." He laughed and said he did not intend to say too much about his experience as a coach for fear he would be assigned to some training station to take part in the physical training program.

Superintendent A. B. Murray, who learned Kissell was to leave Monday just after he had returned from a Presbyterian Synodical Convocation in Wooster this week, said applications would be considered for his duration successor immediately and intimated that some decision might be reached next month. He declared that the situation which was known to be developing had been discussed briefly at board meetings, but said action had been postponed until Kissell was definitely ordered to report. He admitted that "it will be twice as hard to find a coach now as before the war," but asserted that "we (the board and superintendent) feel the people here want football and a good team and we are going to take time to find a good and competent man to take Kissell's place." His successor, Murray declared, would have the same responsibilities as Kissell.

Who ever takes on the coaching assignment here will face roseate prospects, Murray said, explaining that Kissell had said that the outlook for next fall's squad "was the best in years." More than 45 candidates, he added, were expected to answer the first call for practice.

While Kissell's departure for the service was expected, his orders to leave came sooner than had been anticipated.

Mrs. Kissell and their two children are going to Columbus Grove, Coach Kissell's former home, for the duration. They expect to leave here Monday but have run into difficulties in getting a house in Columbus Grove, Coach Kissell said.

Coach Kissell, who is 29 years old, said he had been given a leave of absence by the board of education. And, while he expects to come back as soon as the war is won and he is out of the service, he added that he was uncertain whether he would make coaching his life's work or go into business. He came here from Bradford.

Miraben, who is 30 years old, is draft-deferred until September because of war-connected occupation and inability to meet physical requirements. He is the supervisor of the summer recreation program and has suffered for several years with a stomach ailment.

In addition to his coaching duties, Kissell has had classes in physical education in the schools. Miraben teaches science in the high school in addition to coaching.

Jim Tobin Hurls No-Hitter But Game Is Only 5 Innings

By JOE REICHLER
(By The Associated Press)

Jim Tobin, after eight years as a major league pitcher, boasted a .503 won-loss percentage today—and you can chalk up to .003 surplus to yesterday's no-hitter—his second of the season—against the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Boston Brave ace had a tough time hurling that .500 mark. After losing 21 games in 1942, the most in the league, the veteran knuckleball expert had a lifetime pitching record of 60 wins and 60 losses. Last year he divided 28 decisions to retain his .500 level. Prior to yesterday's game, Big Jim had won seven and lost seven for an 82-82 won and lost record.

The hardest working pitcher in the majors—his 13 complete games is tops for both circuits—allowed only two walks in the abbreviated contest, which was called at the end of five innings because of darkness, with the score 7-0 in Boston's favor. Only one other pitcher, Johnny Vandermeer of the Cincinnati Reds in 1938, has hurled two no-hit games in one season. Vandy's were regulation nine-inning games, however.

The Phillies took the opener of the twin-bill 1-0 in 15 innings on Ron Northey's home run. Bill Lee and Charley Schanz collaborated to shade Bill Javery, who went the route for the Braves.

Whit Wyatt hurled his first complete game of the campaign, allowing the Giants only six hits as Brooklyn won 10-3 over the New Yorkers.

Reds Lose Two
Cincinnati's battered Reds come home tonight for a ball game with one club they can beat at least once in a while, the Chicago Cubs.

Hank Wyse for the Cubs and Clyde Shoun, the Reds' no-hitter, are the pitchers.

The Reds were glad enough to get out of Pittsburgh, where they dropped three out of four games, the latest being yesterday's double header. The scores were 9-4 and 7-4, and the so-called hitless Pirates hung up 26 bingles on Cincinnati's once-great pitching staff which now consists of Bucky Walters, Bucky won the one game for the Reds in the series.

Six doubles and a homer off four Cincinnati pitchers made up a lot of the Pirates' score in yesterday's opener, and four doubles and a homer helped out in the nightcap. Bob Elliott and Al Rubeling, the latter pinch-hitting, contributed the four-basers.

Max Marshall hit a two-run homer for the Reds in the first game.

First Shutout
Bill Zuber headed the Washington Senators their first shutout of the season in their 60th game, doling out four hits as the New York Yankees won 4-0.

Philadelphia's A's took the second game of a twin-bill 3-2, after Boston's Red Sox captured the opener 5-4 to snap the Mackmen's six game winning streak.

Joe Oregio's eighth-inning double which scored Charlie Metro enabled Detroit to edge out

Cleveland 4-3 in the fourth one-run margin of the day.

A seven-run outburst in the eighth gave the Chicago White Sox an easy 10-3 victory over the league leading St. Louis Browns.

St. Louis and Chicago in the National League were postponed because of wet grounds.

Rose Avenue Boys Trounce Central

Errors and bases on balls gave the Rose Avenue Juniors a 16 to 14 victory over their old rivals from Central School in the Morning Softball League game at Wilson Field.

Or, the Central hurler, atoned for the 11 passes he gave the Rose Avenue by leading his team's offense with three hits in five trips.

Wilson Boys Win Game in Last Inning

The Wilson boys put on one of those story book finishes to beat the Air Base Unit team from Patterson Field, 6 to 5, in the first game of a double feature softball program at Wilson Field Thursday evening.

In the nightcap, which lacked some of the excitement of the opener, the API crew went on a merry romp to wallop the Allstotes team from Hillsboro, 14 to 1.

Soldiers Start Early

The colored soldiers were off to an early start and led, 5 to 1, up to the last half of the inning. Then, with one out, Red Reno connected with one and sent it sailing more than 300 feet into the outer gardens for a home run. Kimball got a walk. Wilt singled and then Ike Kelly got hold of one which he laced far away for another home run. With the game tied up at 5-all, Tatman reached first on an error, went to second on an overthrow and came home with the winning run when Ray Warner singled over second.

Near No-Hit Game

Chase, the API hurler again came close to registering a no-hit game when he blanked the Hillsboro boys for six innings. But, in the seventh frame, Hamilton reached first on an error and scored the only run for his team on a fluke single into right field by Styerwalt.

Chase struck out ten batters. Hoskins was the leading hitter with two for three.

COUNTY RATING HITS BOTTOM IN FIFTH WAR LOAN

Ranks 21 in 22 Counties With $366,727 of Entire Goal Purchased To Date

Fayette County today stands next-to-the-bottom in rate of bond buying among the 22 counties in Ohio's Fifth War Loan Area. Only Jackson County has purchased fewer bonds.

Today the total is $366,727.14—just a little more than a third of the $930,000 goal, raised in two weeks time. Two more weeks remain to hit the bulls-eye. In those two weeks, $583,272.86 must flow from Fayette County pocketbooks and dormant bank accounts into the United States Treasury.

E Bond standing of the county is little better—Fayette County ranks 17th among the 22 counties. The E Bond total to date is $71,772.14.

Altogether, 659 individuals have bought bonds—$222,747.64 worth. Commercial buyers account for $143,979.50 of the "grand" total.

Radio Program Sunday
Sunday from 10:30 to 11:30 A. M., a special bond program will be broadcast over WLW in Cincinnati, F. E. Hill, general chairman of the War Finance Committee here, said.

Thursday Hill attended a meeting of county committee chairmen for this area held in Cincinnati. John J. Rowe, chairman of the war loan campaign was the speaker.

"People are not carrying out their patriotic duties. It's not a question of whether you can afford to buy bonds but of what you can give up in order to buy bonds," Hill said.

PART OF COUNTY OFFICES CLOSED

Others May Close During Thursday Afternoons

Several of the county offices at the Court House were closed Thursday afternoon, as result of the closing of most business places, and some of the other offices will be closed each Thursday afternoon during the months of July and August, it was indicated by the officials in charge.

The law provides for closing of public offices Saturday at noon, but with most of the business houses not open and professional offices also closed, little business has resulted at the Court House, on Thursday afternoon, it is stated.

FOUR APPLICATIONS FOR NAVY RECEIVED

Three Men and One Woman Are Recruited

Applications for Navy service from three men and one woman in Washington C. H. were reported by Curtis I. Beede, recruiter from the Chillicothe Recruiting Area, and WAVE Ayselle Easteppe, Sp. (R) 2-c, who were here Thursday.

Richard Thomas, 430 South Fayette Street; Robert Clickner, 913 Briar Avenue and Richard Callender, 419 Western Avenue are the men who applied.

Miss Grace Gilpin, the Arling-ton Hotel, was the woman who made application for the WAVES.

HARVEST HANDS BADLY NEEDED

Men and Boys Are Wanted To Help With Crops

John A. Leland, chairman of the Farm Labor Board in Fayette County, with offices at the Farm Bureau building on Delaware Street, has issued an urgent call for at least 35 men and boys to assist in the wheat and hay harvest.

Good wages will be paid for such hands, and transportation will be furnished.

Those who can work all or part time are asked to call 2558, or apply in person at the Farm Bureau office on Delaware Street.

Wheat harvest is now well underway, and hay harvest is still at its peak.

FEDERAL CURB TIGHTENED AGAINST FARM EXPENSES AS CONGRESS RECESS NEAR

ties upon the corporation, the union, or the employees found responsible for strikes.

Harvey proposed that the arbitrator fix the responsibility for any work stoppage and apply sanctions against offenders by declaring any employee participating in a strike shall be considered as having voluntarily quit.

Employees found by the arbitrator to be "not guilty" would be reinstated without prejudice. Those employees found responsible for the strike would be penalized.

Cost of Living

The CIO, severe critic of the government's cost-of-living index, took comfort today from a new committee analysis of the index although the committee's report on the whole supported the Bureau of Labor statistics, which compiles the index.

The apparent paradox seemingly is explained by the fact that labor leaders and the BLS have been talking about two different things when they wrangled about "the cost of living." Still unsolved is the policy question whether the index or some other standard is to be used as a basis for justifying or refusing general wage increases.

The committee was appointed by William H. Davis, chairman of the president's cost of living committee, to make a technical analysis of the index.

The report said that if it is possible and financially practical to measure all the factors critically put forward in an AFL-CIO report, no more than 3 to 5 percentage points would be added to the index.

CIRCLEVILLE GIVES COMPANY MORE TIME

Reply of the water company is expected by that time.

INSPECTION OF PENNSYLVANIA ROAD IS MADE

Many High Officials Spend Half Hour in City Early Friday

High officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, traveling by special train with an observation car which permitted them to view the track as they passed over it, halted in this city from 9 A. M. until 9:30 A. M. Thursday, and inspected local yards and facilities.

It was the annual inspection made by the officials, and there was no question but what they found the local branch of the road in much better condition than when they made their last visit a year ago.

The special train consisting of a diner, and observation car, was headed east, and parked just east of Main Street while several of the officials visited the station and nearby points.

There is reason to believe the officials will give more attention to the local division as result of the improvements made and that still further improvements may be expected within the next year, so that heavier trains can be moved over the road and at faster speed than at present.

Included in the list of officials were: A. C. White, general manager; H. L. Clapper, superintendent of freight transfer; D. H. Chase, general superintendent; F. B. Foon, superintendent of stations and transfers; J. F. Gillum, superintendent of the Panhandle Division; I. A. Kelley, supervising agent of the Panhandle Division, and W. H. Wisgarber, trainmaster.

In all there were some 25 members of the party aboard the special.

MRS. JESSE ARNOLD CLAIMED BY DEATH

New Holland Woman Dies After Operation

Mrs. Jesse Arnold, 58, died Thursday at her home in New Holland. Mrs. Arnold had undergone a major operation two months ago.

She was a member of the New Holland Church of Christ. Besides her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Robert Lewis and Miss Marvane Arnold; two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Cook and Miss Macie Orihood, and three brothers, Harry, Clark and Paul Orihood, all of New Holland, survive.

Funeral services will be Sunday at 2 P. M. in the New Holland Church of Christ. Rev. F. E. Roberts, now pastor of a Columbus church and former pastor of the New Holland Church of Christ, will be in charge of the services.

Burial will be in the New Holland Cemetery under the direction of the Kirkpatrick and Sons Funeral Home.

HOLDS RECORD OF 53 TIMES IN JAIL

Local Men Said To Hold Greater Records

Washington C. H. police, informed that William Epsey, Circleville, was being held in jail there and records showed he had been arrested 53 times, stated that in this city there are two or three men who have greater records than that held by Epsey.

Policeman Al Sells, who has been on the force 10 years, stated that one and possibly two men here have been taken into custody, chiefly on charges of intoxication, more than 53 times during the past few years.

AN AIR FORCE SERVICE COMMAND STATION, "Some-where in England"—Sgt. Wilbur E. McConaughy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer C. McConaughy of Washington C. H., Ohio, Route No. 2 is now overseas and has participated in a course designed to bridge the gap between training in the States and soldiering in an active Theater of War.

At one of the Air Service Command stations known as Control Depots, Sgt. McConaughy was carefully processed by classification experts who made certain he was well-fitted for the job assigned to him. Security training, personal hygiene, a talk by a Special Service Officer informing him of facilities for healthful recreation, and a lecture by the Chaplain are all in turn part of the G. I.'s preparation for his overseas duty.

CIRCLEVILLE PUMPKIN SHOW IS CALLED OFF

There will be no Circleville Pumpkin Show next fall, due to war conditions, it has been formally decided by directors of the Pickaway County Agricultural Society. The Junior Fair will be staged October 19 and 20, however.

It is the first time in 39 years that the pumpkin show has not been held.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of the Murray Funeral home in Greenfield.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM NOW NEAR COMPLETION; INCLUDES 'PEACE FORCE'

big-state delegations caucus Monday—opening day of the convention—and many may determine their choice.

Platform Highlights

Highlights of the proposed foreign policy plank as laid before the platform drafters by Senator Vandenberg:

1. A promise to avoid "civilian interference" with the military prosecution of the war to total victory in full cooperation with the United Nations.
2. A proposal for "responsible participation" by the United States in postwar cooperative organization, without any "world state."
3. A suggestion that such an organization "develop effective cooperative means to direct peace forces to prevent or repel military aggression."
4. An assertion that force alone will not keep the peace, with the development suggested of international law and an international tribunal.
5. A pledge to protect "the essential interests and resources of the United States" while promoting world wide economic stability to obtain a high level of employment.

No Outright Pledge

The 400 word declaration contained no outright pledge to use military power to curb aggression. It suggested that an international organization "develop effective cooperative means to direct peace forces" toward that objective.

Republican Chairman Harrison E. Spangler released the official convention program with less entertainment and fewer set speeches indicated. He predicted the presidential nominee will be chosen by Wednesday night—thus reiterating his forecast that there'll be no deadlock.

The official program answered a question, which had gone undecided by the arrangement committee for several days, as to whether former President Herbert Hoover or Rep. Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut would speak first before the convention Tuesday, both being booked to appear in a radio period beginning at 9 P. M. The lady from Connecticut will follow the former president.
